Students (ages 10-14) will create a video with a public library-inspired theme with the goal of creating a short video for the statewide VAN Video Challenge competition. The contest is sponsored by the state's 26 Public Access centers.

This hands-on, free workshop will guide participants through the process of planning and filming a short video. No experience required! The workshop will be led by the staff of local public access TV station MMCTV and the library. It will be held primarily at the library, with some filming and editing at nearby MMCTV. This workshop is free and provided by the Richmond Free Library and MMCTV.
